

Inactivity Fee Policy

At SummitCapitalMarkets, we value active engagement in the forex markets. To promote a vibrant trading atmosphere and motivate continual participation, we've implemented an inactivity fee policy.

If an account is inactive for more than 30 consecutive days, it will be designated as dormant. This period commences after an initial 30 days without any trading activity.

Accounts that maintain a zero balance will not incur any fees. However, the company retains the right to close such accounts, providing notice through the platform or via email.

Avoiding Inactivity Fees:

We encourage traders to maintain consistent activity. Regular trading allows you to capitalize on market opportunities, keep abreast of market developments, and make informed decisions. Staying active not only helps sidestep fees but also enhances your trading proficiency.
